Grape Juice at Home

Washington, May 4.—Anybody who is able to can vegetables can make grape juice, says a new publication of the United States department of agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 644. The principle is the same in both cases—the sterilization of the product before it is stored away. In case of grape juice this sterilization prevents the fermentation which in making wine turns the grape sugar into alcohol.

Fermentation is caused by various fungi, yeasts, and bacteria, which adhere to the skins and stems of the grapes. If these are killed, no fermentation is possible. They can be killed in two ways, but one, the addition of antiseptics, is not possible in the case of any article intended for human consumption, because the antiseptics themselves are injurious. The other method, killing them by heat, is the one used in the pasteurization of milk, and is equally simple and practicable with grape juice. Practical tests indicate that grape juice is satisfactorily pasteurized without appreciable change of flavor when it is heated to a temperature varying from 165 degrees to 175 degrees Fahrenheit. If the temperature is allowed to reach 200 degrees F., the flavor of the juice is changed for the worse.

For home use there are a large number of varieties of grapes which will make a pleasant and healthful drink. No matter what the kind, with new care, the grapes have been grape, however, only clean, sound, been previously soaked for about 30 minutes in hot water. For red juice, the crushed grapes are first heated to the same temperature as before and then strained through a clean cloth or drip back without pressure. Thereafter, the process is the same as for light colored juice. Grape juice should be stored away in bottles or jars that are not too large, for after these have been opened the juice is likely to spoil. If properly made, however, the juice should keep indefinitely as long as it is kept in sealed bottles. In this respect it is, of course, like other canned goods, which should always be used as soon as possible after they have been opened. Of the various varieties of grapes common in this country, the Delaware gives a juice of delicate aroma and excellent flavor. The Concord is darker with a sprightly taste and well known aroma. The Catawba, Isabella, and Salem grapes also yield an excellent product. The California varieties produce a very sweet juice, but in many cases there is little characteristic flavor. For home use, however, the kind of grape that is most abundant in the vicinity will, of course, be used.

NEWS ITEMS FROM CAPITAL OF NATION

Facts and Guesses on Lineup of Next National Presidential Campaign.

Washington, May 4.—It is some time until the next presidential election but the pad-and-pencil squad, augmented by the self-constituted prophets of the fickle gods of politics, and peeping and chirping forth. They are taking the pulse of the country, these tinkers of the body politic. Impartial inquiry as to what people are thinking, however, can be sized up and stated in condensed form, thus:

Woodrow Wilson is strong in the rural districts of the East, middle West and South. He will be a hard man to beat.

No one has yet been picked upon as a Republican choice.

The Republicans are determined to win this election at all hazards, and are willing to go to any length to patch up their internal differences.

The tariff will be forced to the front in the F at as one of the main issues.

People who are not attached to either party are anxious for a change, and are expecting it.

From Albany comes this: Gov. Whitman has informed Elihu Root, president in 1916, and will not himself enter the field for the Republican nomination against the senator. The governor looks forward to a second term in the executive mansion at Albany and defers his ambition for the White House until 1910.

Republican leaders of all groups and factions, excepting the extreme Progressives, are now solidly for Mr. Root. He will have no opposition within the organization to a solid delegation from New York in the next national convention.

William Barnes, too, is "rooting" for Root. Mr. Root, however, is silent.

And out of the West filters the news into Washington that United States Senator W. E. Borah expects that it will take all the votes that he Republican party can muster to defeat President Wilson in 1916. He predicts that there will be no third or Progressive party.

"President Wilson will be foe man worthy of our steel. He is much stranger than his party," says he. In addition to this 600 benighteders in Pittsburgh called Penrose as the Moses a few nights ago and amid cheers that made his name rise.

Whatever that means, his name was proposed for "president in 1916." Penrose is said to have smiled, and, like Root, remains silent.

And to say it of a Hoboken astrologer says about T. R. that he "will suffer severe losses in legal matters, and it is safe to predict he will lose in the Barnes affair. Strang to say, that while he will lose, it will enhance his prestige for 1916, and I look for his nomination by the Republican party."

And so there you are. Undermyer in Riggs Case. Samuel Undermyer of New York, counsel in the Fido money trust investigation has been retained in the Riggs bank case on the side of Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams.

President Wilson denies that the controversy between the treasury department and the Riggs bank has been made an administration affair.

In no way, he declares, is it a matter touching an administration policy; especially, he points out, inasmuch as the proceedings in the courts were instituted by the bank officials and not by the government.

Trade Balance Up $8,000,000. Imports and exports for the week ending May 2 at 13 principal customs districts of the United States announced by the department of commerce, as follows:

Imports, $34,524,745, as compared with $38,376,766, the week previous; exports, $55,136,745, as compared with $31,310,853 the week previous. The balance of trade in favor of the United States was $20,611,584 as compared with $12,934,087 for the week previous.

Favors Trying "Jitneys." Jitney bus lines so regulated in the District that they shall not become a menace to life and limb is recommended by G. Curtis Shipin, secretary of the transportation committee of the Washington Board of Trade. In his report Mr. Shipin said that, although the jitney bus movement has been a great success in some cities and a failure in others, it is only in its infancy and should be given a trial in the National capital.

Seriously Charges Harvester Trust. A serious charge involving the activities of the International Harvester company in Yucatan, Mexico, is made by Senor Nieto, sub secretary of the treasury at Vera Cruz, which city is the headquarters of Gen. Carranza. Senor Nieto makes the charge that while the Mexican authorities are bending every energy to assure the shipment of sisal fiber to the United States for the use of farmers in this country, the Harvester company has made the threat that intervention by this government will follow unless the sisal fiber is handled by its agents. The charge is to be called to the attention of Secretary Bryan.

ONWARD MARCH OF PROGRESS

Time Has Wrought Many Changes. Invention Has Revolutionized the World—Scenes Has Worked Wonders During the Past Few Centuries.

From a section notorious for its malaria and yellow fever epidemics, the Panama Canal Zone has been transformed into a beautiful land where happiness and prosperity reign supreme. Faithful, scientific effort has in turn conquered the sleeping sickness, the plague and cholera. The locusts of South African fame have become extinct. But what have we done with the Fly—Man's worst enemy, the world's greatest murderer? They continue to spread their deadly poisons—a menace to millions. Of the combined classes, Animals, Insects and Reptiles, the Fly is the most dangerous.

Activity in this connection is not a new departure. It dates back far into Ancient History. Benzebub was the Fly God of Egypt (see Kings 1:2, 5, 8 and 10). The Great God Baal was often worshipped as the "Lord of the Fly," his ability to drive them off being conceded. The flies were then as now, not only the worst enemies of Palestine and Egypt, but of all civilized countries.

As far back as 80 A. D. history records activity in connection with the extermination of the Fly, which was then a recognized enemy. History records little good of Dominician, the Roman Emperor from 81 to 96 A. D., aside from his activity in exterminating our alike ubiquitous companion and deadly foe. One historian says of him, "One of his favorite pastimes was hunting and killing flies." Thus it will be seen, he was the original "Swat the Fly" man, anticipating the Anti-fly movement by more than 1800 years. This activity has continued yearly ever since, yet today statistics compiled by the United States government shows that the fly pests costs our government alone three hundred and fifty million dollars ($350,000,000) annually.

North, East, South and West, crusades are being waged against this pest. To effectually combat this evil, a scientific campaign is most necessary; but of more importance than this, is the agent by which they can in reality be exterminated.

SHEPARD'S HOUSE FLY DRIVER AND INSECT EXTERMINATOR kills flies by the thousands. No longer an experiment, but an acknowledged success; its use is being recommended by Doctors and Superintendents of Health on every hand. It is manufactured from the oils of the Long Leaf Pine, and when sprayed in a room vaporizes, killing flies, mosquitoes and all other insects in a few minutes. The fact that the fumes are beneficial for people to breathe makes it a valuable addition to the means for the prevention of disease among our people.

Lame Back. Lame back is usually due to rheumatism of the muscles of the back. Hard working people are most likely to suffer from it. Relief may be had by massaging the back with Chamberlain's Liniment two or three times a day. Try it. Obtainable everywhere.
